GETTING THE NEWS.

The morning paper, which is striving hard to earn the reputation of making "a bad break" in every issue, is real mad. No wonder. Being "called down" by the Foreign Office and scooped to within an inch of its life in one day are happenings not calculated to drive flukes from the liver. You have our sincere sympathy. Newspaper people should stick together the same as lawyers and men of other callings. Therefore we waste no time in extending an effort to relieve the genuine grief pervading the sanctum of "the day before yesterday" publication. Weep not.

The morning paper gravely reads THE STAR a lecture on the error of giving news without the moid and beard of reflected but distasteful old age. That is a fault THE STAR confesses, but the public seems to like it.

"Leaks are not rumors," asserts our slow-going contemporary. To be sure they are not. We are not printing rumors. The threats that are made at THE STAR through the morning paper are most likely of home manufacture. To get "hailed up" for giving the news would be no disgrace anyhow. Our contemporary will never have the joy of such indictment.

"The question is," mourns the morning paper, "who is it in our midst that is devoid of honor?"

Do you mean in jail or in your office? In the former case you can learn by reading THE STAR's court reports. In the second case, you might take your valises to the standing committee of some church and get an expert opinion.

CHAS. L. CARTER.

It will be months and perhaps years before the community realizes the full extent of its loss in the untimely and sad death of Chas. L. Carter. He had already accomplished in service for the state much more than is usually performed by publicists of his age. With a brilliant record already made he was just upon the threshold of a career for his country. And how superbly equipped was he for dealing with affairs. A son of the soil well-bred, highly educated, wide grasp, keen discernment, he was to be a power in Hawaii. Already high in the councils of the land, he was destined to win still further laurels at the forum. With a splendid mind for the law and for administration he had coupled executive ability of a high order. To all this there was added a charming personality. Mr. Carter attracted people. He was genial and companionable.

The death of Mr. Carter was a glorious one. He gave up his life on behalf of law and order and good government. But his loss is none the less keenly felt on that account. His deeds are a monument and his conduct a living memory.

MERCHANTS say that business is getting normal again.

THE STAR's second edition war book will give some "unpublished history."

CHINA'S Emperor declares that his country will not yield an inch of territory.

The first guns of the new American campaign will be fired very soon, now.

The way in which operations are being pushed by Superintendent Brown of the Water Works assures plenty of water next season. The wells being driven by McCandless Bros., and the new pipe system insure against drought.

The splendid conduct of war by Japan was brought out clearly in a recent conversation of the writer with a prominent Japanese official. Said the gentleman from the Orient: "The winter interferes with the operations of our armies but slightly. The soldiers are well clothed. Every provision is made for their health and comfort. I hear that the coolies taken along to do the work suffer a little from the cold."

In Minister Willis' instructions from his Government you will find written "An American citizen who during a revolution in a foreign country participated in any attempt of force of arms or violence to maintain or overthrow the existing Government, cannot claim that the Government of the United States shall protect him against the consequences of such act."

In this debate we will agree with the majority and vote consistency a jewel, but we rise as one man and ask wherein the action of Minister Willis in regard to the deportation of Cranston on Saturday last was inconsistent with any instructions issued to him by his Government. If Cranston had been brought before the Military Commission and found guilty of any charge made against him by the Government in connection with the late uprising he would not then, according to the instructions published, be entitled to any aid or comfort from the United States, but he was not so tried. Whether under martial law the Government has the right to deport foreigners is a matter which the officials can handle much better than outsiders. If the Government has erred in the matter it is abundantly able to argue its case without calling upon outside talent for assistance.

Street rumors are seldom facts and in this instance if they were, the Republic of Hawaii has more international complications to deal with than have been dreamed of in recent history verbum sat sapienti.

It is said that the rainfall was greater Saturday night around the nest of the Ornithorynchus than anywhere else in town. Evidently the rain is valuable. It must be a source of satisfaction to people to be able to tell just how much rain has fallen during a certain period but they cannot figure it out without a rain gauge. We have the very latest pattern, standard rain gauges and can sell them at a very low price.

Carriage Whips are sometimes used in place of oats to make horses go; it depends upon the horse which has the best effect, we cannot supply you with oats but in Carriage Whips we can fill any order.

The Grand Rapids Carpet Sweeper is without doubt the best substitute for a broom. We have just received a stock of these celebrated labor savers and can recommend them as excellent articles for use either on polished or covered floors.

To fill a slight demand we have placed in our store a small two-hole stove suitable for bachelors or for use in very small families. They are as perfect as larger stoves but very much cheaper.

It is not so astonishing, when you consider the beauty and price, that our Dinner Sets of white and gold should be so much admired! There's never been anything to approach them in beauty and almost every one admires pretty things—doubtless when the price brings them within their reach. We've put the price on these dinner sets down to a line with the purses of the people. Our other pieces and odd sets are as handsome as any one wants, the decorations are the latest and the prices suitable for every day uses. We all eat asparagus, but we don't all have dishes made purposely for holding the vegetable; there's no reason why we should not— they are here for the asking, and prying, and the prettiest you ever saw.

THE CHICAGO SHOW.

Fat Stock and Horse Exhibitions Will Be Held Together.

The Illinois state board of agriculture has drafted the prize list for the American horse show, which exhibition will be resuscitated at Tattersalls of Chicago's big horse mart Nov. 22 to Dec. 1. The fat stock show will be held in connection with this exhibit, but it is not probable that this show will be of an extent that will encroach seriously on the space for horses. The prize list is quite comprehensive, including classes for thoroughbreds, standard breeds, Cleveland bays, French coaches, carman coaches, hackneys, Morgans, roadster stallions, gaited saddlers, Shetland ponies and all the draft breeds, together with rings for four-in-hands, tandems, carriage pairs, hunters, jumpers, etc. Each breed named is given three rings—4 years old or over, 2 years old and 2 years old—in both sexes, and prizes are uniformly $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third. It is greatly to be regretted that the rings for yearlings and foals have been omitted. The accommodations at Tattersalls are limited to 320 stalls, and Superintendent Pace states that he could not possibly figure out room enough for the youngsters, and solely on this account rings for the yearlings and foals have been omitted. There are no stalls in the immediate vicinity to accommodate an overflow, and it is thought that the stall room will be taxed to care for the older horses, which will be shown.

With this omission will militate greatly against the show of draft horses, and it is to be hoped that after the entries give some idea of the numbers room may be found to accommodate the young things in the exhibition of which our breeders take such great pride. In view of the limited number of stalls at the disposal of the board, it will doubtless be well for exhibitors to file entries immediately, as late comers may have to be rejected for lack of room. The board has been compelled to adopt a rule that not more than two entries in any ring will be accepted from any one exhibitor.

A total of $15,000 in prizes is offered, which amount exceeds by about $2,000 any previous offering at this show. The prizes are not large, but it must be remembered that the chances for gate money are not nearly so good as when the show was located on the lake front. A grand total of $10,000 has been subscribed in this city, and every effort will be made to bring out a crowd. Special attractions will be arranged for the evenings, and over $7,000 of the prize money has been set aside to give light horses in the hope that the entries and support of those who drive and ride in this city may be enlisted. The exhibition is undertaken under disadvantages, but if horsemen give it hearty support it will doubtless lead to the erection of a building in this city which will be in every way suitable for the holding of the greatest horse show in the world.—Tribune's Gazette.

Horse Exhibition.

The largest pair of horses shown at the cart horse parade, remarks the staid London Spectator, were two bays that stood 18 hands and probably weighed at least a ton each and were capable of drawing a weight of over four tons in addition to their driver. Compared with the average size of the nearest approach to the wild horse existing, the tarpan of the Khirgiz steppes—for the animal which Prejevalski claimed to have discovered in the highlands of Gobi—is too like a wild ass to be accepted as the primitive ancestor of the horse until more evidence is forthcoming than is at present available from such remote and inaccessible regions—then man and horse would have an increase of about one-third in height and three-quarters in bulk and weight as the result of human effort directed mainly to the increase in size in just proportion in a particular animal. The natural inference from this fact is a doubt whether the limit of size which nature seems to have set to the growth of particular species is really as fixed and arbitrary as might appear from the experience of ages, even in cases where the conditions are more favorable to their perfect development than are the Asian steppes to the growth of the horse. The general weight of what is called "paleontological" evidence seems to favor the last supposition.

Live Stock Points.

At the St. Louis fair the live stock that made the poorest showing was the horses. There was a mule race, though. The celebrated running mule of the editor of the Arizona Kicker ought to have been there, but he wasn't.

To put flesh on an old or thin animal Professor Stewart says: "Dissolve a pint of molasses in a gallon of water. Mix 3 pounds clover hay, cut to half inch lengths, with 2 pounds buckwheat flour and 2 pounds of wheat bran. Wet this with the sweetened water. Feed this amount three times a day, giving a little less for the first day or two."

Cows that are handled by rough and violent drivers and stablemen are much more subject to abortion than those treated gently. A man in Pennsylvania kept a dairy in which the cows were continually aborting. They were tied in stalls so short that it was with great difficulty one cow could squeeze behind another. They crawled and injured one another in passing into and out of the stalls. Besides that the boys who took care of these stunted cattle used to raise a great hubbalooboo and crack whips over their heads to rush them into the stable. Then the farmer wondered that his cows gave birth to dead calves.

In building a cow stable be sure to make the doorway wide enough so that cows near to calving time may pass through without crowding or crushing their sides against the doorway. This is sometimes a cause of abortion. Yet another cause is hornings among cattle. Pregnant cows should not be allowed in yards where cattle hook one another.

Generalship.
"Herbert is going to call here tonight," said the fair girl.

"He is?" said her parent, with polite playing tendencies.

"Yes."

"Well," and he glanced at the massive boot which reposed on the fender, "I'm glad you mentioned it. The prudent course for me will be to make him believe he gets a chance to call."—Washington Star.

NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER.

Patented under the laws of the Hawaiian Republic.

One of these Shredders has recently been installed at the mill of the Paahau Plantation Company, Hamakua, Hawaii, and Mr. Andrew Moore, the manager, writes concerning it:

PAHAU PLANTATION CO., HAMAKUA, JAN. 10, 1895.

W. M. G. IRWIN & CO., LTD., HONOLULU: GENTLEMEN—The mill has been running during the past two weeks, with the National Cane Shredder lately installed, giving the most satisfactory results.

Our mill consists of three sets of two rollers, 32 in. dia. by 72 in. long, the shredder being 5 ft. 7 in. long, driven by an automatic engine, 11 in. dia. cylinder by 14 in. stroke.

The Ratoon cane being milled is as hard as it is possible for cane to be, having been subjected to a severe drought during the whole period of its growth, and growing on land with a trade wind exposure. Our experience with the Shredder, particularly with above cane, proves it to be just what our mills required, the shredded cane being prepared to have its juice extracted than formerly after passing through the first mill.

The first mill is now allowed to open 9-16 in. instead of 1/4 in. as formerly, so that the trash now leaves the first mill, better ground, than it formerly did the second, and this without the old time grinding, choking, and straining of the machinery.

Behind the first and second mills we apply hot water, the quantity for the past 12 days, as per statement attached, has averaged 38 per cent. on the total juice from the cane.

The trash from the last mill is cut up much finer than before the Shredder was applied, much of it resembling saw dust, it contains as per statement 29 per cent. of moisture and makes good fuel, the juice from the last mill stands 5 degrees Brix, so that the moisture in the trash is 5 per cent. sugar solution.

The rollers make steam much easier than before, now care has to be taken to keep them from blowing off, whereas before great care was necessary to keep the steam from going too low when the Pan was on.

By the use of the Shredder we have dispensed with six men, formerly necessary to distribute the cane on the carrier, feed the first mill, and throw back the long pieces.

The Shredder Machinery is a good substantial job, and should cause little or no trouble, as it is subjected to but light strains. You will see that by applying the Shredder, our work in all departments has been very materially improved—obtaining a better extraction at less expense than formerly. The great improvement in our steam, causes much satisfaction to those engaged in the Mill.

Yours Respectfully, A. MOORE.
